

Someone dropped a teaspoon, I don't think it was the Creator.

It took millions of years and miles thick of glacial ice

To sculpt these hills and scoop out these lakes

Eons of rain and weather fair and seeds blown from afar

To clad them in luxuriant green

Dappled by sun and clouds and light so soft

That now the scenery just melts the eyes.

Maybe the Creator did all that - without a spoon!

Courtenay Young: Crow Park, Derwentwater, Keswick, 13-July, 2021

Please share your response here. Fold this card and post into the post box at the Exchange Post on Crow Park.