

HOW DO I MAKE A TREE ?

With soft, silky leaves
And a trunk that's strong
Enough to withstand storms
Hard enough to crunch a car
With bark that flakes
To expose soft wet
New wood still green
With sticky sap
That traps the passing fly
With hiding places for shy nests
And squirrel's dreys
Amongst the trunk
And twisting branches
With intricate twigs
Networking exquisitely
A perch for flocks
Of twittering birds
That's a source of food of shade
Of new earth from old leaves
That change colour with the year
Each season differently
Dressing this dancing form
That starts off so slim & slender
Whipped by the wind
Tossing to and fro
Yet steadily thickens
Spreads and shapes itself
With arching branches
Leaning far out over
The green meadow
Now littered with daisies
And resplendent cows
With odd gnarled stumps
With broken branches
Where beetles run
And insects burrow
With roots that stretch
Their searching fingers
Deep deep into the soil
To feed and balance
This stretching beauty
How do I make something like this ?
